

Hiro Fujikake

Composer/ Synthesizer Player/Conductor/ Producer

The Grand Prix winner Composer at Queen Elisabeth International music competition

Hiro Fujikake is a Japanese composer, conductor, producer and synthesizer player. He is the first Japanese composer who won the 1st prize in Queen Elisabeth International music competition in Belgium for the symphonic work “The Rope Crest” in 1977.

Hiro has won numerous awards for his compositions at the most of national prestigious competitions in his early career.

One of his works recognized globally is the arrangement of Japanese traditional songs for the album “Four Seasons in Japan” performed by Holliger(Ob) I Musici in 1985. He also collaborated with the flutist Sir. James Galway and released two CDs. The first CD of “The Enchanted Forest” was recorded the Billboard Top 10 of the Classical crossover section for five months in a row(the 2nd rank was the top record) in the United States in 1990. Hiro performed “solo orchestra”, composed his original music and arranged Japanese folk songs for the album.

Hiro’s solo album of “Galactic Symphony” performed by “solo orchestra” was one of his modern art style with magnificent orchestra sounds. His compositional artwork is characterized by a wide variety including symphonies, brass band, operas, ballets, musicals, works for concert band, mandolin orchestra and traditional Japanese instruments.

For more details, please visit <https://muse-factory.com/en/>